McKINNEY.

Mr. J. Walker Givens is slowly recovering from a severe case of throat trouble.

Should you see a fancy rig occupied by a fine looking gentleman, wearing a saddle, tall coat and patent leather shoes driving into town, that's our McIntosh. He's looking for Thomas Cooper.

It is reported that Josiah Bishop had prayer "meetings" in his wheat field the other day, immediately after being rescued from the entanglements of a run-away team of four large mules which he was driving to a binder.

We miss the able communications of your former correspondent from this place. It has been suggested that he has succored on you in consequence of your condemnation of the accused assassins of the late Gov. Goebel, especially Taylor for whom he seems to have great admiration.

A large majority of the democrats in this end of the county heartily endorse your advocacy of the nomination of the Hon. James D. Black for governor, believing him the strongest man yet named and that he can forever silence the big gun from Danville.

Some of our boys who used to play ball went to Hustonville Saturday and what they did for the Hustonville cracker who claim to have honestly beaten every team in this part of the State, was simply horrible. Poor Hustonville how they did kick. They had their own umpire, got mad at him and left the field after the fifth inning 13 to 1 against them. If they are not satisfied let them name their time and place.

Miss Nancy Ware leaves Friday to attend a house-party to be given by her friend and classmate, Miss Claxton at Owensboro. Mr. D. S. Johnston, on account of his health, has fully determined to move with his estimable family to a more congenial climate, touch to the regret of the entire community. Mr. Wm. Daddarac has made arrangements to handle wheat at this point for a large Northern firm. Our farmers are inclined to sell while the market is good. The many friends of Mr. C. S. Owens are glad to see him again in charge of the railroad office here.

Mrs. F. M. Ware and sister, Mrs. Spencer Hubble, will leave in a few days to spend the remainder of the summer in Colorado Springs. Miss Magie McHardy left Friday to visit her relatives in Canada. A message to his father from John Tanner, who lives in Texas, brings the sad intelligence of the probable fatal illness of one of his children. Dr. Lowder and Charley Crow are getting ready to attend the game of ball at your place to be played by the Bloomer Girls. Dr. Hawkins Brown is not going as he saw them at New Orleans.

BOBBITT'S PRESIDENTIAL PLATFORM.

CRAB ORCHARD, June 23.—To the people of the United States: Although I am not an announced candidate for the presidency, I deem it my duty as a patriot, to let the people know that I would accept of that important trust if tendered to me politically and by an overwhelming majority of unthought votes, not having enough money about me just now to buy so big an office. I desire to make this announcement now, so after the election is over, and the people have selected some common, every man, they can not say: "We didn't know that you would have the office." Now you know it, and what are you going to do about it? Give it to some common mediocre of course. You can't say you did not see my announcement for the INTERIOR JOURNAL is read by all intelligent people. That's what makes them intelligent. I want all the newspapers North and South, to copy this open letter; and publish my platform on which I firmly stand, "like some tall steeple high."

"Niggers" to the snowy cotton field, the coarse, rough women of the North to the wash tub, the beautiful, chaste, refined, delicate ladies of the South to the parlor, the democrats to the office, and all assassins and sympathizers with assassins to the Stygian shore to read their atrocious acts by the glaring red light of hell!"

I do not want my "niggers" back again. We raised them so tenderly and had to work so hard to feed and clothe them that they could not stand the wants, privations, and starvations of freedom, and about all, except my name, poor old Gilbert, have gone across the silent river.

My platform is short and pointed, not long and voluminous, like parties whose platforms are larger than the candidates who stand upon them. My record as Justice of the peace and town attorney for Crab Orchard are a sufficient guarantee of my future conduct.

JUST LISTEN AT THIS.

VINELAND, N. J., June 23.—An article signed "Brother Barnes" purporting to have been published in your journal, appeared in the "Leaves of Healing," J. Alex. Dowse, Pub., Chicago, Ill., June 9, 1900. Did you publish such an article? It is headed "The Messenger of the Covenant." The J. of H. says it was written by Rev. Geo. O. Barnes, of Sanibel, Florida. The article is most blasphemous in sentiment and diction. Can you give me any information regarding this Mr. Barnes? I am writing a series of articles about this man, "Dowie," and wish all the facts I can get as to his adherents. Yours truly,

(Mrs.) MARY C. HUTCHINGS,
Local Editor Vineland News

To be bound hand and foot for years by the chains of disease the worst form of slavery, George B. Williams, of Manchester, Mich., tells how such a slave was made free. He says: "My wife has been so helpless for five years that she could not turn over in bed alone. After using two bottles of Electric Bitters she is wonderfully improved and able to do her own work." ## MT. VERNON.

Sparks & Co. are starting a brick kiln at their quarry three miles South of town.

Contract has been let for building a telephone line from London to Livingston, where it will connect with the central State lines.

Every democrat your reporter has talked with in this and other counties is for James D. Black for governor and is working for his nomination.

Charles Bronston, colored, a brick-maker of Richmond while attempting to jump on a moving freight train at Sparks' quarry this Monday morning, fell under the wheels, which cut off one of his legs below the knee. The citizens of Rockcastle have suffered a remarkable train of accidents within a very short period. John Paynter lost a foot by train at Livingston, Craig Thompson had a foot cut off by train near Sparks' quarry, Mort Owens, Jr., lost both legs and shortly afterward died from being run over by train at Brodhead. George Mullins, Maresburg, James Houston, Pine Hill, W. C. Cable, Brodhead, lost their lives and Will Adams, Walter Miller and Arch Brown dangerously injured in the Calvary bridge disaster. While gathering cherries at his mother's in this place an hour since a ladder fell with Thos. Proctor, breaking his right leg above the knee.

Mr. Shafer, the New York stove man, is here to see Mr. Gustavson. Miss Delora Brown, daughter of Dr. S. W. Brown, of Commerce, Texas, formerly a citizen of Rockcastle, is visiting Mrs. Mattie Lawrence and other relatives here. J. J. Lawrence is offered a lucrative position with the Southern Pacific. He will probably accept. Bob Owens, who was shot at Pine Hill by John Pittman, is improving. J. K. McClary continues quite ill, though is some better. R. L. Brown, acting democratic county chairman, is doing good work for the cause. E. S. Albright is making the Signal get up and down. James N. Reynolds and little Mollie were here from Pittsburgh Saturday and Sunday. Messrs. John Pope, Jacob Sambrooks, Doc Stucky and Miss Ora Clancy, of Livingston, and Miss Judith Simpson, of Pine Hill, attended church here Sunday. The little Misses Flora and Florence Pennington, twins, gave a birthday party Thursday last and entertained quite a number of their little friends.

BRODHEAD IN MOURNING.

Never in the history of our little village under the hill had so severe a shock to come over it as that of last Tuesday when the news was clicked over the wires of that terrible accident near Lebanon, which caused the death of J. H. Huston, George Mullins and later the death of W. C. Cable, John Newland and William Adams being seriously hurt and Arch Brown and Walter Miller slightly.

If the entire town had been draped in mourning the people of this place could not have been more touched, the people were so shocked it seemed to paralyze all business, and when the news of W. C. Cable's death reached us, it seemed as one was gone that no one could fill his place. As a husband he was kind and generous, as a father he was almost worshipped by his dear little ones, as a Sunday school instructor and a worker for Christ in the church his place will be hard to fill. But death has called him home where we feel sure his reward awaited his coming.

He leaves a wife and four children to mourn his loss. The sympathy of the entire town goes up in behalf of the bereaved wife and children and his aged father and mother, who had led him in a manner that was pleasing in the sight of God. His funeral was preached by Elder J. G. Livingston Friday afternoon to the Christian church, the largest crowd witnessing it I have seen for years. After services his remains were laid to rest in the cemetery at the church. D. R. TOTTEN.

As Louisville to Chicago and return. Low rates offered by the Monon Route. Tickets will be sold by the Monon Route from Louisville to Chicago and return at a rate of $8 on June 26 and 27, bearing return limit of July 4th, account of the National prohibition convention. Sleeping car reservations made and full information furnished on application to E. H. Bacon, District Passenger Agent, Monon Route, Louisville, Ky.

LANCASTER.

A fine daughter has been added to Dr. J. M. Acton's family.

Miss Eliza Lusk informs me that six of the seven applicants this month for teachers' certificates, got first class and the other second class.

Some of the best talent in the State will take part in the elocutionary contest for the diamond ring here on July 12. A large crowd will hear it at the Opera House.

Rev. William Crow, who died at Richmond last week, had many friends in this county as a good part of his life was spent at Paint Lick, where he was pastor of the Presbyterian church.

Our democrats are wondering how John W. Yerkes is getting along studying his catechism put out in the last issue of the INTERIOR JOURNAL. No difference which way he answers he is beat, and if he refuses to answer we will take judgment by default.

The Danville News certainly misunderstood James Spillman when it quoted him as saying that he caught a fish weighing 48 pounds, as our people are not in the habit of telling such tales. As to the 28 pound fish, that is nothing unusual, so says Maj. Burnside.

Prof. Leon, a hypnotist, has been at the opera house for three nights and has done some clever work in that mysterious art. Mrs. Hart was hypnotized on Saturday and placed in a window adjoining the Garrard to remain in a deep sleep for 48 hours. Many gather to see her while in that state.

Mrs. Jennie May Duerson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Arnold, aged 17 years, died at her home in Madison county on Sunday and the remains were hurried to Lancaster cemetery Monday at 1 P. M. She was very popular and leaves a host of friends and relatives, who mourn her departure at such a tender age.

Since the nomination of the republican presidential ticket, the only thing for us to do is to run David H. Hill for governor of New York and put an Indiana man on with Mr. Bryan. Please see that this is done and the position of the republicans on trusts, protection, expansion and everything in favor of the capitalists will show them under.

Senator Farrel has issued a call for our precinct conventions on July 14th, to appoint delegates to the county convention on the 16th, when delegates will be appointed to the Lexington convention on the 19th, to nominate a candidate for governor to beat Jno. W. Yerkes. A full attendance is expected at the precinct and county meetings as all lovers of good government have an interest in the matter.

About 10 o'clock Saturday night, Jailor Ross heard a noise in jail and on going to the scene he discovered that Carrier and Preston, who escaped some time ago and were recaptured, had made an opening in the outer brick wall and only a layer of bricks was between them and liberty. They had broken the hinges on their cell door and passed through the opening which was made some time ago. They were handcuffed to their beds and the cells will be repaired at once as the material has arrived.

Mr. R. H. Batson has returned from Dripping Springs in much better health. W. J. Settle and family, of Washington county, are guests of Senator and Mrs. G. T. Farris. Eld. R. H. Robertson, of Hopewell, Ill., an able minister, will begin a protracted meeting at the Christian church on Aug. 12. Mr. and Mrs. Ben Letcher, of New York, and Miss Carrie Holuen, of Lexington, have been visiting Mr. and Mrs. John W. Poor. Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Stormes have returned from a trip to the Eastern cities.

The action of Boyle county in attempting to get the Southern extension is like the man who took the invention of another and patented it. They took no part with our people in attempting to interest the company in extending the road and after they were induced to build it, Boyle wants it. Their bids will amount to nothing, however, as the company wants to open up a territory not contiguous to other roads, and this is the route to accomplish that end. A school boy can see that this is the only feasible route.

Mr. Watterson's eulogium on the republican party, published in the Courier Journal of 23rd, although not devoid of truth, would make good campaign matter for that party. It had better be said in party caucus than to be run through the press. When he says that folly and democracy are synonymous terms he is certainly not guilty of possessing the combination, for his want of the latter destroys the similitude, however much he may have of the former. Expansion discards the doctrine of our fathers, for it is folly to say that foreign powers can not acquire territory in this hemisphere and then claim the right to territory, ourselves, in the other. Besides we were pledged not to acquire the territory when war was declared, and it is sure to involve us in trouble with other nations, as well as cost millions of money and much blood, all for the purpose of making a few more rich republicans. Please to excuse this aversity, though the statements are literally true.

WANTED.—We want a few more good agents of either sex to take orders, good wages, permanent position, exclusive territory. Address Box 134, Danville, Ky.

ELOCUTIONARY CONTEST.

MISS GRIFFIN WINS FIRST AND MISS DEVERREUX SECOND PRIZE.

Interest in E. H. Beazley's annual elocutionary contests seems to increase as the years go by, the one Friday night at Walton's Opera House drawing the largest of the large crowds that have attended the six entertainments. The house was packed from pit to dome by people who seemed to enjoy the program as much as if it had been novel. Mr. L. H. Hughes was chairman and made a nice little speech commending the contests and thanking the large audience for its attendance.

There were eight contestants, Misses Marie Griffin, of the Lexington Business College, Paul Beers, of Lancaster College, S. J. Baughman, of Richmond, Leile Roberts, Danville, Mary L. Devereaux, Winchester, Polly Traylor, Stanford, Mary Kay Salter, Harrodsburg and Julia Carpenter, Millersburg, who appeared in the order named. All did splendidly and each fair contestant had her champions, but when the judges, J. P. Thompson, of Lebanon, B. V. Smith, of Somerset, and J. W. Brown, of Mt. Vernon, after a long and tiresome retirement, announced that Judge Thompson, that they had decided that Miss Griffin was entitled to the first prize, set of silver mandelabra, and Miss Devereaux, to the second, a silver water set, there was a general acquiescence in the verdict. The winner is a niece of the Messrs. Underwood, of this county, and the decision, apart from its merit, was received by her friends here with delight. She certainly gave a charming presentation of "Little Golden Curls" in her rendition of "Mad Mag." Miss Devereaux showed real gifts as an actress as well as the careful training of her teacher, Mrs. L. C. Brock, who was present and took great interest in her pupil, who is very young and very promising. Between each piece Mrs. Hoffman at the piano, Miss Isabella Bailey on the violin and Mr. A. G. Hoffman on the base violin, made melodious music, which unfortunately was often drowned by the irrepressible small boys and others "spelling" for their favorites. The promoters are to be congratulated both on giving the people a pleasing entertainment and putting a few extra dollars in their own pockets.

Miss Griffin was accompanied from Lexington by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Griffin, Prof. B. B. Jones, Misses Louella and Jessie Griffin, Miss Maud Jones and S. H. Bates and they were very much elated over the result. Everybody was charmed with Miss Polly Traylor's performance. With less than two weeks' practice, she acquitted herself so well that many declared her entitled to the first prize.

Mrs. Brock left after the entertainment for Boston, where she will take a summer course in elocution.

PREVENTED A TRAGEDY.
Timely information given Mrs. George Long, of New Strafford, Ohio, prevented a dreadful tragedy and saved two lives. A frightful cough had long kept her awake every night. She had tried many remedies and doctors but already grew worse until urged to try Dr. King's New Discovery, the bottle which cured her, and she writes this marvelous story in plain English. Mrs. Long of a severe attack of Pneumonia. Such cases are truly a proof of the marvellous merit of this great remedy for curing all throat, chest and lung troubles. Only 50c and $1. BRO. PINER, the Hopkinsville Methodist preacher, has made a mess of it by giving grounds for the belief that he was too intimate with one of the sisters. He not only came near having his head shot off, but has been the means of breaking up a family. He was in too bad a condition to appear at the trial of James D. Ware for shooting him when the case was called Friday and it was continued till July 5th. Mr. Ware will make no statement of why he attempted to kill the preacher in his own parlor, but his attorneys say it was under justifiable circumstances. Mrs. Ware has filed suit for divorce and alimony against her husband, alleging that he had abandoned her after accusing her of improper relations with Piner. She also says that for more than 12 months he has frequently been under the influence of intoxicating liquors, and has for more than six months habitually behaved toward her in such an inhuman manner as to indicate a settled aversion to her. Public sentiment is divided, but Piner's congregation is said to cling to belief in his infallibility. It seems at this distance though to be another case of another apparently good man gone wrong.

MR. BRYAN'S comment in the premises is so pointed and so appropriate that we adopt it both in whole and in part. Says he: "The Philadelphia platform is the best evidence thus far given of the deception attempted by the republican party." Taken in connection with the speeches made at the convention, it shows that the republican party's platform in 1896 was a deliberate fraud as far as the promises of international bimetalism were concerned; that the party's attitude on the trust question is insincere, and that the party is not willing to state its attitude on the Philippine question and invite the judgment of the people. Nothing was more manifest in the convention than the military spirit, and yet the convention did not dare to endorse the demand of the president in 1898 for a standing army of 100,000 men."

THE republicans tried to make a pyrotechnic display in the nomination of McKinley and Roosevelt, but it fell flat. The ticket nevertheless is a strong one and it stands the democrats in hand to nominate a stronger, which they can do by naming William Jennings Bryan and David Bennett Hill, on a platform, which unlike that adopted at Philadelphia, will not be high sounding, but meaningless words. Democratic chances are a great deal better than in 1896 and with conservative action and wise leadership the prospects for success are very bright.

BILLY to Teddy: "Your unanimous nomination is a high and deserved honor. I extend my heartiest congratulations." Teddy to Billy: "I appreciate deeply your congratulations, and am proud to be associated with you on the ticket." This passage of telegrams was on the day of their nomination, yet when they are officially notified July 12, when McKinley will go to London for the purpose, they will stand like it's news to them. There's a awful lot of foolishness in politics as other matters.

THEY do say that our own, our amiable, handsome and accomplished Mr. Yerkes was not down as one of the candidates to second McKinley's nomination, but that he "interpolated" himself in order to work in some platitudes about liberty and the Kentucky situation. His effort and the effort to make a spectacular show of assassin Taylor are not the features of the show, it is to relate.

THE reports sent out that Taylor be brought to the mountain country where he can be "protected by the law" to make a series of speeches, but it bears on its face the false odor of its own improbability. Taylor couldn't be drawn into such a yoke of a xen. He is being led to death where he is, being sure by his crimes and dreading sure consequences.

ONE who remembers how Judge Taylor would catch his breeches fore and give them an upward jerk, and how he was nominating Gov. Goebel at the Louisville convention, will appreciate this from the Frankfort Democrat: Judge Taylor can not make much way in the race for governor unless he is provided with some invention to hold up his pants.

GOSS HANNA says he is going to carry Kentucky, "Goebel law or no Goebel law." The old racial thunks he says and bulldoze his way here, but the facts are on his game this time the frauds of 1896 and 1899 will not be repeated. Kentucky will give her moral vote to Bryan, "boodle or no boodle, bulldoze or no bulldoze."

THE personal of the story of the terrible track on the Southern in Georgia enough to make the blood run cold. The passengers and crew not a soul except those in the Pullman, claiming those not killed out by burning and drowning.

IT is enough to make a dog vomit to see the associated press reports of the office holders acted when they named McKinley. School boys have discounted their doings.

HON. JAMES D. BLACK is making friends everywhere he speaks and creating the most favorable impression. He is for certain amendments to the election law that experience has shown necessary and for an equal representation of the leading parties at the polls, but thinks, like us, that a return to the viva voce manner of voting is the surest cure of the election evils. Like the good democrat that he is, Mr. Black states in his speeches democratic success is what he desires and that he does not wish even to be considered by his party if his candidacy will imperil the chances of success. It grows more and more apparent each day that Mr. Black is the man of the hour and the one above all others to nominate for governor. His nomination will be worth thousands of votes in the mountains and be as an olive branch extended to all shades of democracy for their support.

POLITICIANS AND POLITICS.

At Newport, Ark., a congressional convention has taken 1,000 ballots without result.

The Texas democratic State convention, after a prolonged contest, adopted an anti-expansion platform.

Mark Hanna says he intends to carry Kentucky this year. "Goebel law or no Goebel law." We shall see.

The people's party will hold a convention at Louisville, Aug. 1, to nominate a candidate for governor.

William S. Jennings was nominated for governor on the 4th ballot by the democratic State convention of Florida.

A poll of preferences for a democratic candidate for vice president shows David Bennett Hill, of New York, a favorite.

Both Wilson and Brown agreed that a special judge should not in Leslie and that the contention between them should be settled by the courts.

Aaron Kohn's opinion that the law is against an election for governor this fall is meeting with strong indorsement from members of the bar of the State.

This senseless editorial appears in the Somerset Paragon. "Goebellites can't fool anybody into believing that they are going to nominate a mountain man for candidate."

The Kansas City Star says that the caterers will lay in a supply of 210,000 bottles of beer and 50,000 loaves of bread. The Louisville Times wants to know what they want with so much bread.

He was bred in old Kentucky where the meadow grass is blue, but the color of his make-up had a streak of yellow. too: take him. Mount, you're very lucky to shelter a stiff like Bill—Cynthiana Democrat.

Justus Goebel has left Frankfort for Phoenix, Ariz., and his departure is taken to mean that no further effort will be made to apprehend Fugitive Taylor until the trial of the other conspirators has begun.

The climax of the most disgraceful and disgusting epoch in the political history of America was reached when the representatives of the republican party, in National convention, cheered and honored a self-convicted assassin and a fugitive from outraged justice, W. Skunk Taylor—Danville News.

One thing we mountain boys do know. Yerkes can't win the office of governor of Kentucky on his personal beauty, shapely legs, good clothes and trained society ways. One thing we suspect: Yerkes is playing for the favor of Washington and official patronage should McKinley win the presidency more than for "civil liberty" in Kentucky—Somerset Journal.

If ever a people were scourged with lessons in the school of experience that were calculated to teach them to stand together in defense of common right, surely we have had those lessons within the last 12 months. If there ever was an honest man identified with the democratic party, who, for reasons satisfactory to himself, has strayed away from its fold within the last few years, surely, if he is ever to be reclaimed and snatched as a brand from the burning, that person's reclamation and redemption have been wrought out for him by the last six months of republican denunciation.—Senator Blackburn.

Maj. Gen. MacArthur has issued at Manila a notice of amnesty. Ninety days are given in which to renounce the insurrectionists and acknowledge the sovereignty of the United States. Those who do so will be transported to any part of the archipelago to which they may desire to go. Each man who presents a rifle in good condition, will be paid $50 pesos. A peace plan provides for amnesty; return of confiscated property; employment in the militia and navy (when established) of the revolutionary generals; application of the revenues to needy soldiers; guarantee of personal rights; civil government, and the expulsion of the friars.

Whoever brought about the exhibit of W. S. Taylor, former governor of Kentucky, at the Philadelphia convention, committed a deplorable indiscretion. The move was theatrical in concept, and it utterly failed of the dramatic effect intended—to the credit of the delegates, be it said. Taylor is now a fugitive from justice. The governor of Indiana, in violation of his clear constitutional duty, declined to surrender him to the authorities of Kentucky, and whoever goes out of his way to do him honor, affronts the State of Kentucky, and not merely the democrats of that Commonwealth. It was foolish to elect him as a delegate, and it was even more foolish to attempt to lionize him before the convention.—Chicago Post, rep.

Gilligan said he did the killing in self defense. Miss Turner denied that she was with Gilligan, and said she had not spoken to him for a long while. ANOTHER MAN'S WIFE - Some five weeks ago a man giving his name as J. W. Sharpe applied to C. B. Mays, the blacksmith, for a job and received it. He moved a woman, supposed to be his wife, and two children into a portion of Mays' house and all went well for a time. The actions of Sharpe and the woman grew suspicious, however, and Mays told Marshal O. J. Newland about it. That officer went to work on the case and found out that the woman was not Sharpe's wife, but the wife of Joseph White, a coal miner, at Briceville, Tenn. Mr. Newland wrote to White and received a letter telling him to arrest the pair. Sharpe was arrested and fined $10 for living with the woman, Sunday morning early White, with three men, arrived here and called on the marshal, who told them he would meet them at 6:30 and at that hour they called at Mays' house. The erring wife was there, but Sharpe had fled. The meeting of the father and children was pathetic indeed, but no loving glances were exchanged by White and wife. They talked over the matter though and she finally agreed to return home with him and they left on the afternoon train for home. Marshal Newland says the men with Mr. White were heavily armed and trouble would doubtless have followed had they found Sharpe. As soon as they saw there was no chance to find him the three men left town for McKinney, where they were to take a train for Tennessee. Mrs. White told Marshal Newland that Sharpe was her cousin and that they had been sweethearts for years, but he married and she followed suit. Since the death of his wife, she said, Sharpe had paid her attention whenever the occasion presented itself. Mr. Mays is very much worried that he has been living in the house with so disreputable a pair and is anxious for Sharpe to be caught and prosecuted to the full extent of the law.

SOMERSET - Hardly an average crowd attended the opening of circuit court at Somerset yesterday owing to the heavy season with the farmers. At 9:30 court was called to order and Judge T. Z. Morrow delivered a fore-fall charge to the grand jury, which consisted of 11 white men and one very black Negro. After this a number of whisky cases were tried and at 1 Judge Morrow gave way to Congressman Vincent Harrel, who made a good, short speech. After his effort the court was resumed and whisky cases were again launched into. The docket is a large one and not half of the cases will be tried at this two weeks' term. - Somerset is holding her own, if not doing a little better. Business seems to be good and some building is being done. - One of the biggest things in town is Editor L. E. Hunt's machine shops, which covers almost as much ground as the C. S. buildings. In a short while he will not only be preparing auto repair, but build almost any kind of machine. - It is about decided that Somerset will have a fair this year, likely to September. There will be no races, but good purses will be given for saddle and roadster rings. - The wife of Judge J. J. Hall died Sunday afternoon of cancer of the stomach, and was buried yesterday. Besides the husband two grown daughters survive. - W. S. Elkins, cashier of the Bank of Harrodsburg, died Saturday. He was a most useful citizen and will be sadly missed. - News has been received of the death of Mrs. John Henderson, of Kansas City. She formerly lived in Palaski. - Children's day at Saul's chapel was a big thing. Speeches by prominent people were made and Rev. J. H. Pence tells us that the 500 or more people present were all well fed and had a good time. - Some political talk is being indulged in and Black and Beckham are the favorites, with the former leading at this juncture. A good many Brownites have returned to the democratic fold and that party is getting in readiness for a good fight this fall. - Editor F. J. Campbell, of the Journal, has been very ill for a few days, but is somewhat better. - Yesterday was a good day for the INTERIOR JOURNAL, 38 new names being added to its list, to only one lost. - The barn of W. T. Duolin, of the Dahney section, burned a few days since, together with a lot of feed, &c. By hard work he saved a valuable jack that was in it. - This paper is under obligations to Messrs. W. W. Tate, John Gibson, Harve Sloan, T. J. Curtis, W. J. Brown, A. C. Martin and others for kind assistance rendered its business manager yesterday.

Does Your Baking Powder Contain Alum ?

Prof. Geo. F. Barker, M.D., University of Penn.: "All the constituents of alum remain (from alum baking powders) in the bread, and the alum itself is reproduced to all intents and purposes when the bread is dissolved by the gastric juice in the process of digestion. I regard the use of alum as highly injurious."

Dr. Alonzo Clark: "A substance (alum) which can derange the stomach should not be tolerated in baking powder."

Prof. W. G. Tucker, New York State Chemist: "I believe it (alum) to be decidedly injurious when used as a constituent of food articles."

Prof. S. W. Johnson, Yale College: "I regard their (alum and soluble alumina salts) introduction into baking powders as most dangerous to health."

In view of such testimony as this, every care must be exercised by the housewife to exclude the over and over condemned cheap, alum baking powders from the food.

Baking powders made from cream of tartar, which is highly refined grape acid, are promotive of health, and more efficient. No other kind should be used in leavening food. Royal Baking Powder is the highest example of a pure cream of tartar powder.
